

News

January 2012

Theodor Friedrichs has implemented a complete set of test equipment for meteorological sensors at the premises of the Kenya Meteorological Department in Nairobi under a contract of WMO.

The contract covered the supply and installation of a climate chamber, a pressure chamber, a temperature test bath, a precision resistance bridge and a HygroGen tester for combined temperature/humidity sensors.

The systems have been installed and the personal has been trained in November 2011.